ELOCUTION AND COMPOSITION.

One-half of each of the three lower classes declaim selected pieces before the President, in presence only of the whole class, once in three weeks, and they exhibit compositions to the respective Professors once in each month. The members of the Senior Class deliver original speeches in alphabetical order once in each month, in presence of the whole of the Faculty and Students.

SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies, the Eunomian, and the Phi Mu, composed of students of the College, which hold their meetings every Saturday morning ; and they are highly beneficial to the young men, in connection with the regular College course of study.

LIBRARY.

The College Library is increasing, and the students have also Libraries belonging to their Societies, the whole together numbering over 2000 vols.

---

APPARATUS.

The Trustees have purchased a new and complete Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, sufficient for all the purposes of illustration; and one of Barlow's celebrated Planetariums has been ordered.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Every student, unless excused by the President, is required to recite in the Bible, or Sacred History, on every Sabbath morning, at 8 o'clock during summer, and at 9 during winter. All the students attend with the Faculty morning prayers daily in the Chapel. All the Classes recite in the Greek Testament on every Monday morning. Every student, unless at the written request of his Parent or Guardian addressed to the President, must attend divine service at the Presbyterian Church on Sabbath A. M.

COMMENCEMENT AND EXAMINATIONS.

The Annual Commencement is on the Wednesday following the first Monday in July. The rising Examination of the three lower classes begins on the last Monday in June. The final Examination of the Senior class commences one month before Commencement day. A sermon is delivered on the Sabbath previous to the first Monday of July, by some clergyman of distinction, invited by the Faculty. The Sophomore Prize Declamation takes place on the first Monday of July, the Junior Exhibition on Tuesday, and the Commencement Exercises on Wednesday. There is a term examination of all the classes about the 15th December, and one about the 15th March, in each session.

MODE OF EXAMINATION.

The classes are examined, not in the usual mode by text books, but written or printed questions are submitted to them, after their entrance into the examination room; which they are to answer in writing, without aid from books, or assistance from any source.

VACATIONS.

There are two Vacations during the session. One commences at the close of the December examination, and ends 1st January. The other commences on the day after Commencement, and ends about the middle of September. There is but one session from the middle of September to 1st week in July.

BOARD.

Students board and lodge with the citizens of La Grange and the vicinity, as there are no Dormitory buildings connected with the College.

Sec. 2. Students applying for admission, under this rule, must come recommended by the Presbytery, or other ecclesiastical body having control of them.

Sec. 3. Students thus educated and afterwards abandoning the study, or office of the Ministry, in order to engage in secular occupations, (save for ill health,) shall be bound to refund their tuition fees.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

This Department was established expressly for the purpose of fitting students for the Freshman Class in this College. Nothing is taught in it, therefore, but the studies required for admission into that Class. No student will be received into this school, who is not far enough advanced to commence the study of Arithmetic, Geography, and English Grammar. Monthly circulars containing a statement of the standing in scholarship, and deportment, of every student, are sent to the Parent or Guardian. The government of the School is conducted by the Teachers, and President of the College.
